School

As we welcome the month of October this week, it allows us time to reflect on our students and their progress in the school year thus far.

Thank you for your past attention and thank you in advance for your continued cooperation with masks and social distancing during the safe and orderly arrival and dismissal of our students.

Week of Respect: As per the "Anti-Bullying Bill of Rights," the week beginning with the first Monday in October of each year is now designated as the "Week of Respect" in the New Jersey schools. This year, the Week of Respect will take place from Monday, Oct. 5 to Friday, Oct. 9. Please click the link below for information on our daily message and spirit wear.

Student Supply Pickup: The district has prepared student resources for distribution to you on Oct. 6 and 7 (rain dates Oct. 8 and 9 respectively). We are confident that you will find these materials to be helpful in assisting your child as they engage and learn new concepts. Please refer to the communication sent by your child's teacher and found in the following link: Maurice Hawk Student Supply Pickup.

Parent/Teacher Conferences: Clear and timely communication between teachers and parents has always been a hallmark of the WW-P success for students. The staff is prepared to dialogue with you during your appointment for Parent/Teacher Conferences. Your exchange of information with one another leads to a productive learning plan for your child. Specific scheduling information will be forthcoming from your child's teacher.

Coming Soon: During library time with Mrs. Ferguson, students will be learning about our new Media Center ebook collection over the next few weeks. Mrs. Ferguson is working on how-to videos to show students the collection. Stay tuned!
